

: Documentation :

Focus on Success Stories of AEC'S Learners

Success Story - 3 2014-15

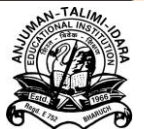

STATE RESOURCE CENTRE FOR ADULT EDUCATION & TRAINING, BHARUCH (GUJ.)

Sponsored by Department of School Education & Literacy, MHRD, Govt of India
Information Development And Research Agency- IDARA Campus,
Old Court Road, Lal Bazar, Bharuch- 392 001

Ph.No. 02642-260082/ 244201 /264175 Extn.24/30, Email: bharuch-src@nic.in/guj.src2@yahoo.com

“The story of transformation of life through Literacy”

Name : Parmar Dhaniben

Wife of : Parmar Dhirubhai

Age : 43 Years

AOL Enrollment No: 131106158611001

(17th March 2013)

(Attained Basic Literacy)

Address : Village Karatha (Po: Thari) Block: Nandod

District: Narmada

“Sooner or later those who win are those who think they can”

‘The compulsory outcome of a sincere effort is the positive result’- this is not a mere statement or a part of philosophical discourse, but a personal experience expressed by Smt. Dhaniben Parmar.

She never attended any formal schooling during her childhood. She was a non-literate and her family background was also far from literacy environment and thus like her other counterparts she was forced to domestic works.

Against this background she was exposed to a new experience i.e a new learning experience through Saakshar Bharat Programme; though found difficult initially, she could cope with class room dynamics.

She sincerely attended classes at AEC and attained functional ability to read, write and calculate. She was so delighted and enriched with this ability that she advised every illiterate she met to avail benefit of this programme.

Smt. Dhaniben Parmar & in backdrop animal & shop owned by her

Today she is a certified neo-literate and also she understood the importance of savings and money and from her household savings she bought a buffalo; she collects and sells milk from the animal and invested the money in a small shop at her home and individually looks after this shop and keeps the account of the earnings.

She is thankful to Saakshar Bharat Programme for transforming her life and also strongly willing to study further through Equivalency Programme.

